

Psalm 110

A Psalm of David to sing and strum

The LORD said to my lord: "Now take your seat
At My right hand, until the day I make
Your enemies a footstool for your feet!"
[This is the promise He has made to him!]

Your people then themselves will volunteer
On the great day in which You show your might:
In holy splendour* from the womb of dawn:
To you will be the fresh dew of your youth!

The LORD has sworn, and He will not recant
"You are a priest, and will be evermore
After the order of Melchizedek:
[The king of righteousness and king of peace.]

The LORD Himself is there at your right hand:
He shatters kings in the day of His wrath:
He judges rightly among the nations:
He heaps up corpses of his enemies!

He shatters heads across a wide terrain:
He drinks from the brook flowing in the way,
And therefore he can hold his head up high.
[He knows the LORD Himself is at his side!]

* or "Upon the mountains"

Versified by J.W.McMillan, 2 Roger Rd, Morphett Vale, SA, AUSTRALIA - 5162